

Our Aims...

We aim to provide:

- A safe, secure, happy and stimulating learning environment. The school is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment.
- A broad and balance curriculum. At Fairfield we aim to make our curriculum meaningful, interesting and fun, including real experiences for the children.
- Opportunities for all pupils to excel. We believe that learning should be linked to the children's personal interests and individual learning styles.
- Play, games and active learning to support their education. This is especially important in the early years at school, Foundation Stage and Year 1, but we believe that active learning is valid for all ages.
- Parental support and to work together with parents for the benefit of the children. Through our Leading Parent Partnership work we believe that we can continue to build on the good relationships which already exists. To achieve this we try to involve parents in their children's education in a variety of ways.
- Every child with the opportunity to experience success and to develop self-esteem. So we provide children in addition to the curriculum opportunities for children to develop skills, to enjoy their learning and to become part of the community.

Our curriculum...

Symphony Learning Trust is a highly successful Multi-Academy Trust with eleven primary schools. All schools have their own identity but work collaboratively to provide the highest possible quality of education.

We have ensured our curriculum places literacy and numeracy at the forefront although as always, we are ensuring that all subjects have their rightful place within the curriculum.

We have ensured that the curriculum we offer your child is balanced, exciting and enriched and fully equips your child with knowledge, skills, tolerance and understanding of the 21st century world.

Our curriculum is focused around a knowledge and vocabulary based approach. We have taken careful consideration with regards to the structuring of our curriculum to enable children to make links within their learning both across year groups and across subjects.

At Fairfield, we work hard to ensure children remember what they are taught in the long term which we hope will greatly enhance children's understanding of the world and make learning new concepts easier and more enjoyable.

A welcome from Mr Tuckwell
